An outstanding collection of quotes many of which I had not seen before.By skmurphyAn outstanding collection of quotes many of which I had not seen before. And I read a lot of books of quotations. Here are five that I really liked"Everyone needs his memories. They keep the wolf of insignificance from the door." Saul Bellow"Perhaps one should not think so much of oneself, though it is an interesting subject." Norman Douglas"Sleep is when all the unsorted stuff comes flying out as from a dustbin upset in a high wind." William Golding "Just as we hit water when we dig in the earth, so we discover the incomprehensible sooner or later." Georg Lichtenberg "Anger is never sudden. It is born of a long, prior irritation that has ulcerated the spirit and built up an accumulation of force that results in an explosion. It follows that a fine outburst of rage is by no means a sign of a frank, direct nature." Cesar Pavese 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great short bedtime reading By undsoweiter Great short bedtime reading, just one page a day. Interesting to read diverse authors expressing similar ideas in different ways in other times. Should appeal to those appreciating good writing. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By Monica Good item

An amusing collection of wise sayings from ancient times to the present day. This and hundreds of other instructive and entertaining observations are collected in this lively little volume, a perennial backlist favorite.

Witticisms, aphorisms, and philosophical quips on the human situation [that are] wry and sometimes sardonic. . . . An irreverent collection with a needle for every conceivable balloon. - Norman Cousins, Saturday of Literature From the Back Cover These and hundreds of other instructive and entertaining observations, from ancient times to the present day, are collected in this lively little volume.
