Stevens While this is not a "traditional" reverse dictionary, in that it does NOT use reverse spellings, it is more like a thesaurus, with a huge number of tables ranging from diacritical marks to architectural terms and colors, in addition to the word listings. I enjoy thumbing through this book and reading the glorious number of entries that catch my eye. You will also enjoy this book! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Thirsty for knowledgecheck out a reverse dictionary !(By Paula Walker The reverse dictionary gives so much more information than a regular dictionary. Detailed illustrations and expansion of words that mean the same quite like an encyclopedia provides. You look for a word and get so much more your inspired to browse thru the pages to learn about more words and subjects. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Four Stars By Patrick G. It definitely helps but I wish it covered more information.

Everyone has experienced the frustration of forgetting a familiar word--a word on the tip of the tongue that might as well be a million miles away. With more than 70,000 entries, this unique illustrated alternative to the thesaurus is designed to find that word, quickly and easily, through synonyms, associations, common phrases, and antonyms. 350 illustrations, charts and diagrams.

From Library Journal Americanized and expanded from the British version, this delightful reference with some 70,000 entries, serves more than one purpose. It finds the precise word you want (factitious under "fake," atomiser under "spray"); it teaches you new words (eudonia under "Aristotle," deipnosophist under "dinner table"); it lists related terms (ballet steps, architectural words); and it illustrates varieties and parts (cheese, the ear, heraldry, papal vestments). It is sometimes quirky ("garden predators" are illustrated under "garden") and sometimes incomplete (only 19 words are listed under "Spanish terms"; only 20 dogs are shown under "dogs"), but it does more than a thesaurus and is lots of fun for just browsing.- Kitty Chen Dean, Nassau Coll., Garden City, N.Y.
