Word for word, page for page Spanish translation of Creative Resources for the the Early Childhood Classroom, 3E.

This comprehensive text focuses on the developmental norms of infants and toddlers. It includes all the information students need to provide the best possible care. It emphasizes the whole child and covers all areas of development: social, emotional, cognitive, and physical. Because of the rapid growth of young children from birth to age three, the developmental traits are outlined in weekly and monthly increments. In addition, material on choosing developmentally appropriate toys, activities, and skills provides valuable information. Extensive activities provide students with the opportunity to observe young children in action.

About the Author Judy Herr, Ph.D., is Professor Emeritus of Early Childhood Education at the University of Wisconsin-Stout. Dr. Herr is a member of numerous early childhood organizations such as NAEYC, and has held leadership positions in these organizations. She is also a frequent lecturer at early childhood conferences and seminars and has published many articles and books on early childhood topics. Terri Jo Swim, Ph.D., is an Associate Professor and Program Director of Early Childhood Education at Indiana University-Purdue University in Fort Wayne (IPFW). She has been in the field of early childhood education for over 15 years. She has worked in private child care centers, university-based laboratory infant/toddler and preschool programs, and summer camps with children ages birth to 13 years. Terri is also the co-author of CREATIVE RESOURCES FOR INFANTS AND TODDLERS, 2nd Edition (Cengage Learning), with Dr. Judy Herr. Current research interests include infant-toddler and preschool curriculum, Reggio Emilia, documentation, and teacher education.
