very thoughtful, detailed and engaging read for anyone who wants to understand how to navigate a difficult job market. Simon does an excellent job of laying out a straightforward plan and the requisite steps to maximize time and opportunities. He also does a fantastic job in helping maintain focus on the process rather than getting emotional about the outcome. My husband was recommended this book by a close friend in the UK. I decided to read it to see how I could help my husband in his job search. I've started to implement a number of steps for myself just to grow my network and increase my visibility amongst my peer group. This is a must read for any professional. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Extremely Informative - Highly Recommend! By Jennifer F. With high unemployment and jobseekers fighting for fewer and fewer jobs it's never been more important to get an edge when looking for that next career move. The right experience and qualifications, a good CV and a nicely worded covering letter are no longer enough - they are the bare minimum! In this book Simon Gray explains how to get ahead, what to do and - just as crucially - what not to do in order to win in the highly competitive job race. He also explores the psychology of looking for a job and divulges his revolutionary techniques to get noticed and employed in a crowded market. If you are looking for a job or planning to change career this is the book you can't afford not to read!

"An exceptionally easy-read, in a conversational style that's like chatting to a knowledgeable mate who passionately wants you to succeed. It bubbles over with nuggets on every page. It is a highly practical book, based on his experience as a successful recruiter and business owner, is free of jargon and full of vivid language. It'll definitely leave you feeling all the more wiser and motivated to get that job." -- Nicky Torode, Raise Your Game

About the Author Simon Gray is an experienced recruiter beginning his career in the industry in 1999. Ten years later he jointly founded Cherry Professional Limited, a recruitment business dedicated to providing the best career advice to jobseekers. With limited education available on jobseeker psychology and how best to move in the job market, Simon left recruitment in 2013 to form Career Codex Limited, an education and training company with the sole purpose of empowering jobseekers. Simon is also a Chartered Accountant having qualified with KPMG and in his leisure time is an accomplished Martial Artist who spent two years living and training in Tokyo, Japan. These life experiences combined with his extensive experience of frontline recruitment contribute to his innovative and unique approach to jobseeker success. He is also an experienced commentator and in August 2013 appeared on BBC National News at Ten discussing the Bank of England's unemployment target and was also quoted in the Financial Times and Wall Street Journal. Super Secrets of the Successful Jobseeker has been used to develop two Ofqual qualifications in career planning and employability skills and was written to give the jobseeker that all important edge. Combining mental discipline, the psychology of people and expert knowledge of the job market it's the book any serious jobseeker must read!
