books of general quotations. There are relatively few books specifically of funny quotes. The author of this book operates a website called allgreatquotes.com, which is a great resource. Previously, I used to do my quote searches on Thinkexist, and I still do. The challenge, in finding funny quotes is that usually they are organised by author, a topic search, or a word search, or a specific pattern, but not necessarily a category search like humor. So, when I learned about this book, I thought this a refreshing and different way to look at quotes. And, when I bought it it opened up a whole new world. If you're like me you may discover for yourself a whole new world of funny quotes on a wide variety of topics. As you can expect with someone who runs a quote website, and presumably loves, and is an expert on quotations, much thought has been put into quality testing the quotes, and producing what I consider to be a high quality collection of quotes. What I particularly like is that he has gone beyond the usual suspects, who are included, and included some unusual ones, catering to a variety of tastes not only an American palate, or an English palate, or even an Irish palate, but an eclectic variety that will appeal to every palate. You may not for example have of Joanna Brand, an English comedian, or Hal Roach, an Irish comedian, or you may not have thought Jackie Kennedy was funny, or Alfred Hitchcock, or Sigmund Freud, but guess what? I took this book on an overseas trip, and inevitably people would pick it up, leaf through it, laugh out loud, and insist on reading the particular quote, in fact several. I made so many notes on my original copy as I like to analyse quotes so I bought a second one. Here a few examples from the book: Watching your daughter being collected by a date feels like handing over a million dollar Stradivarius to a gorilla. Jim Bishop. The English may not like music, but they love the noise it makes. Thomas Beecham. By all means marry; if you get a good wife, you'll become happy; if you get a bad one you'll become a philosopher. Socrates. Our enemies are innovative and resourceful, and so are we. They never stop thinking about new ways to harm our country, and our people. And neither do we. George W. Bush. I am fond of pigs. Dogs look up to us. Cats look down on us. Pigs treat us like equals. Winston Churchill, attributed... woo her, wed her, and bed her, and rid the house of her. William Shakespeare, The Taming of the Shrew. He's been called, cold, rude, self centered, arrogant, and egotistical. But that's just his family's opinion. Bob Monkhouse. The quotes are arranged by order of topics, such as: Americans, English, Canadians, Sex, Love, Marriage, insults, battle of the sexes. One of my favorites was dumbest things ever said. Among the many included: Oscar Wilde, Dave Barry, Phyllis Diller, Mae West, George Bernard Shaw, James Joyce, Mark Twain, David Letterman, Rita Rudner, Jay Leno, Billy Crystal, Robin Williams and many many more. If you're like most people, and I like to think I am, I think you will enjoy this book. I hope this was helpful. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Four Stars By R. D. Treat Yourself With Laughter By Lajeane Keller I buy these types of books to kill time otherwise lost spent waiting in lines or on hold while on the phone. This was an enjoyable read.
